

JYOTI SUMMIT 2023

In a rapidly changing world and society, it's imperative that different aspects of learning and teaching also change. There is a need for newer paradigms to adapt to this new world; research should inculcate a spirit of pluralism now more than ever. The modern research and education system is too geared towards western models, which in turn, suppresses many discourses and learning approaches. This multidisciplinary seminar is an attempt to look at alternative models of knowledge and pedagogy to formulate newer modes of thinking and teaching. The aim is to broaden the horizon of academic research and learning. To this end, we bring in experts from various disciplines to deliberate on the newer paradigms and knowledge systems.
